Medical Marijuana

should be legal because:

Cancer and AIDS patients eat more, keep more food down, & keep their strength & immune defenses up by smoking marijuana.

Cannabis is the best relief known for glaucoma, and may help treat asthma, epilepsy, PMS, emphysema, arthritis, stress, anorexia, bulimia, drug & alcohol addiction, migraines, multiple sclerosis, cerebral palsy, chronic nerve pain, & depression. Cannabis can help prevent heart attacks by reducing blood pressure and dilating blood vessels.

Nine states allow medical marijuana use (Mar. '04); others have bills or initiatives pending. The federal government continues to jail patients and cannabis providers, and to oppose any legalization.

While law enforcement budgets for marijuana prohibition have grown, drug use among youth, murder, assault, and rape in Alaska have all increased.

DID YOU KNOW...

State and local funds spent on enforcing marijuana prohibition take away from Alaska's school budgets, social services, and even basic services.

DID YOU KNOW...

Not only does marijuana prohibition waste money, legal regulated marijuana and non-intoxicating hemp products could generate tax dollars, clean new jobs and tourist revenue for Alaska!
